Event Description and Key Outcomes of the Event/Activity:

The Department of Mechanical Engineering organized an expert lecture on “Current US Tariff Changes and Impact on Supply Chain” on 20th February 2026 from 2:20 p.m. to 4:20 p.m. The session was delivered by Mr. Dhwanitkumar Kikani, Senior Indirect Tax & Global Trade Compliance Analyst, Pune, India.

The lecture focused on recent changes in U.S. tariff policies and their implications for global trade and supply chain management. The expert explained how tariff revisions influence sourcing decisions, production planning, logistics operations, cost structures, and international business strategies. Real-world examples and industry insights were shared to help students understand the practical challenges faced by manufacturing and trading companies.

The session was interactive, allowing students to clarify doubts related to global trade compliance, customs regulations, risk mitigation, and strategic supply chain planning.

1. Enhanced Understanding of Global Trade Policies
Students gained knowledge about recent U.S. tariff changes and international trade regulations.
2. Improved Awareness of Supply Chain Impacts
Participants understood how tariff fluctuations affect procurement, production costs, pricing, and inventory management.
3. Industry-Oriented Learning
Real-world case studies helped bridge the gap between academic concepts and industry practices.
4. Strategic Decision-Making Insights
Students learned how companies respond to tariff changes through supplier diversification, nearshoring, and cost optimization.
5. Career and Professional Exposure
The session provided exposure to global trade compliance as a potential career domain.
6. Development of Analytical Skills
Students developed the ability to analyse economic policies from an operations and supply chain perspective.
